RE: ELIGIBILITY FOR EXAMINATIONS

Following the roll out of the new funding model by the government, most of the first year students are expected to pay a small fee component known as household contribution. This fee component is below the 60% threshold required by our student management system (ERP) for course registration.

Due to challenges in the disbursement of the funds all first year students will be allowed to sit for examinations on Monday 29th January 2024 to await the Senate decision on the same. Meanwhile, we urge all the first year students to ensure they have paid the household component as we await the government disbursement of the remaining part of their fees.
